The Ministry of Environment, Urbanization and Climate Change has received financing from the World Bank toward the cost of the Seismic Resilience and Energy Efficiency in Public Buildings Project (SREEPB) and intends to apply part of the proceeds for consulting services.

The General Directorate of Construction Affairs ("GDCA") of the Ministry of Environment, Urbanization and Climate Change (MoEUCC) serves as the main implementing agency for the Project. A project implementation unit (PIU) has been established under GDCA to manage the activities related to the Project. The project investments will focus primarily on improving disaster resilience and energy savings in selected central government buildings and strengthening the policy framework and institutional capacity to develop, finance, and implement resilient and sustainable public buildings in Türkiye.

The Project will primarily focus on improving the disaster resilience and energy efficiency of selected central government buildings, as well as on enhancing the policy framework and institutional capacity for the development, financing, and implementation of flexible and sustainable public buildings in Türkiye. The proposed project will be implemented through three components: (i) investments in selected public buildings for seismic strengthening and energy efficiency improvements; (ii) advanced technical assistance and capacity development; and (iii) project implementation support. Under the project, public buildings such as educational facilities, dormitories, hospitals, and government administrative buildings will be structurally strengthened and renovated or demolished and reconstructed.

The buildings to be retrofitted will be aimed to achieve minimum energy performance (Türkiye Class C energy performance certificate or higher) and minimum energy savings as specified in the Project Operational Manual.¹ Architectural, mechanical, and electrical renovations and some renewable energy (RE) systems (e.g. rooftop solar photovoltaic (PV), ground source heat pumps, solar water heaters) will also be included depending on their economic viability.

The objective of the consulting services is (not limited) to conduct structural performance assessment, energy audit, structural - energy retrofitting design consultancy services, prepare environmental, social and OHS documents, construction tender documents, and construction supervision for the Elazığ Fırat University Buildings and Public Buildings in Tunceli Provinces, as listed in Table 1 (hereafter will be referred as "Buildings").
